

Student Volunteers

We are looking for students willing to take an opportunity for participating in CIBSE 2018 while also lending us a hand for running the conference in the smoothest possible way. We expect student volunteers to have a great time during the conference, take advantage of all the programmed activities, and to engage with leading individuals in the Ibero-American Software Engineering community. Also, the participation in the student volunteer program is a great way to meet students from all over the world.

Benefits

The main economic benefit is that CIBSE offers a grant of 100 USD to offset some of the costs of the event (e.g., hotels, travels, and food). It is up to students to choose how to invest the money. The rest of expenses (included registration fees) must be covered by the student and / or the University that he/she represents.

Moreover, being a student volunteer is an excellent opportunity to meet, interact, and network with leading academic and industrial researchers and practitioners in the area of model-driven engineering. Such interactions often help shape the research direction for many students. Being a student volunteer is also a great way to meet other students from all over the world that share your interest for software engineering and to offset some of the costs of the conference!

Responsibilities

- Approximately 12 hours work in total during the conference week. Ideally, student volunteers will be assigned to a satellite event and/or a conference session in which they have a scientific interest.
- Technical assistance to speakers and conference participants.
- Other activities that keep the CIBSE 2018 conference running smoothly.
- Attend the whole conference and satellite events. Be available at the latest on the afternoon of April 24th for a debrief. Organizers will give the grant to students during this meeting.

Important dates

- Submission Due Date: March 5, 2018, AOE
- Notifications Date: March 12, 2018

Committee

Student Volunteer Chair

Mario Sánchez, Universidad de los Andes, Colombia

mar-san1@uniandes.edu.co

The selection will be made by a committee comprising members from various institutions and countries.

Submissions

Fill in the following form, including a one-page CV

* Google form.

Advisors should send their recommendations to:

mar-san1@uniandes.edu.co

Evaluation process

Student volunteers must be enrolled in a Ph.D. or Master program at the time of the conference and be fluent in Spanish or Portuguese.

Student volunteers must submit the online form with its accompanying documents. In addition, their advisors have to directly send a recommendation letter to the Student Volunteers Chair by email. Both submission form and CV by the applicant and recommendation letters by advisors, have to be sent no later than the 5th of March, AOE. Around 12 student volunteer positions are available in total: we expect to assign 6 to Students from Colombian Universities and 6 to Students from the rest of Ibero-America. The selection will be made by a committee comprising members from various institutions and countries.

Selection will be based on merits and needs:

- Merit-based positions are for students with papers accepted to be presented at the conference.
- Need-based positions are for students that wish to participate in CIBSE without an accepted paper: in this case the CV of the student as well as the recommendation letter from a Professor will be the decisive factors.

Selected students will be notified no later than March 12, 2018.